Beacon lights town's jubilee celebrations!

COUNCIL chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop lights Harlow's jubilee beacon in the Town Park on Monday as crowds gathered to commemorate the Queen's 60th year on the throne. More than 1,000 people attended the celebration, during which they sang the National Anthem and said a prayer in honour of the monarch.

SCHOOLGIRL GRAB MAN'S DISTINCTIVE ARM TATTOO

DETECTIVES investigating an incident in which a young girl was grabbed by a man sitting in a car believe a distinctive tattoo may provide a vital clue to the identity of her assailant.

afternoon had Roman numerals tattooed on his left forearm.

The girl was on her way home at 3.30pm when the man, who was sitting in the passenger seat of a small blue saloon car, grabbed her by her coat hood.

He only let go of her coat after the driver of the vehicle shouted at him, allowing the youngster to escape.

She ran to her home nearby and alerted her mother, who immediately contacted the police. The car followed the girl a short way but then sped off.

At first police treated the report as an

Olive left black and blue after bus ride ordeal

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN elderly woman was left battered and bruised after being thrown from her seat on a bus she claims was travelling too fast.

Regular commuter Olive Towns (84), of Little Brays, Harlow, suffered extensive bruising to her face when she fell from a fold-up seat on an SM Coach service travelling to Epping.

According to Mrs Towns, she lost her balance as the bus turned into Southern Way because the vehicle was travelling at a "much faster speed than normal".

She told the Star: "I regularly travel on buses around Harlow and have never had any problems before, but on this occasion the bus driver was travelling so fast as he came round the corner that I didn't have time to grab the handrail."

"I was literally lifted off the seat and landed in the gangway, hitting my head so hard it swelled up in seconds."

Mrs Towns said that although the driver stopped the bus, he did not seem overly concerned about her injuries. "He asked if I was ok and if I wanted him to call an ambulance, but I was in such shock from the fall I didn't really know what to say."

"I was also extremely embarrassed and didn't want to make too much fuss. I did, however, ask if he wanted to take my details thinking he would have to file an accident report but he said it wouldn't be necessary."

After receiving help from another passenger, Mrs Towns got off at her stop where she met her daughter, who was horrified by her mother's injuries.

"My daughter immediately took me to the doctor and rang the bus company to complain," she said. "She was absolutely horrified and wanted to know why they had just let me get off the coach without taking down any details."

"She also expressed to them that I thought their driver had been travelling too fast but they denied it and made no kind of apology."

Since the accident Mrs Towns has been too embarrassed to leave home or attend her normal social clubs because of the bruising on her face.

"I am quite an active person but my face looks so bad that I haven't left the house other than to go to the doctors," she said. "I also haven't used a bus since and am extremely wary of doing so."

She added: "I want to know why the driver was going so fast around a corner and see that something is done so that it doesn't happen again."

SM Coaches director Phil Knight said a full investigation would be carried out into the incident following Mrs Towns' complaint.

"This incident will get my undivided attention and I can only apologise for the delay in sending a letter of apology to Mrs Towns," he said.

"It seems unlikely that the bus could have been speeding in that area due to the way that cars are parked along both sides of the road, but I will be speaking to the driver involved and a full investigation will be carried out to determine how this happened."

Man accused of raping girl due in court

THE trial of a man charged with the rape of a schoolgirl in Harlow more than 14 years ago is due to start at Chelmsford Crown Court today (Thursday).

Airport worker Jon Molt (34), of Rushes Mead, Harlow, was arrested in January this year following a review of the case by the Kent & Essex Serious Crime Directorate's cold case investigation team.

The assault took place on a grassed hillock between Churchfields, Momples Road and First Avenue, known locally as Ten Metre Wood on December 11, 1997.

Thief pockets £400 from elderly shopper

POLICE have warned people to be on their guard in Harlow town centre after a thief stole £400 from an elderly shopper.

The 78-year-old victim was shopping for groceries in the Asda supermarket at the Water Gardens on Friday when a man struck up a brief conversation with her.

After he walked away she continued with her shopping, only realising the envelope containing the money was missing when she got to the cash till.

PC James Marshall said the woman had been left extremely distressed by the theft.

"Thefts like this are despicable crimes committed by criminals who target some of the most vulnerable members of our communities," he said.

"We would advise people to be on their guard when they are out and about and be wary of any stranger getting too close to you."

The suspect is described as in his late 20s, white, approximately 6ft, of slim build and with short, fair hair. He appeared to be of eastern European heritage and police believe it is possible he was working as part of a group.

Officers are currently examining the store's CCTV footage for an image of the thief.

Burglars target two homes in same road

POLICE are investigating burglaries at two homes in the same street in Harlow in one night.

The first happened on Sunday night when thieves forced open the front door of the property in Fennells and stole cash, cards and the keys to a blue Renault Scenic in which they drove away.

The second incident occurred in the early hours of Monday when cash, cards, computer equipment were taken from a house. This time the thieves drove off in the victim's beige Jaguar car.

DC Sarah-Louise Austin said both break-ins could have been prevented if the uPVC front doors had been double-locked.

"There have been quite a few burglaries in the town where burglars have been entering houses through insecure uPVC doors," she said. "If you have a uPVC door, then push the handle up to engage the additional bolts and then use the key to lock it."

Challenges pushing Mike to the extreme

A HARLOW thrillseeker is hoping to help raise a staggering £100,000 for charity in five years by taking on a series of extreme challenges.

Mike Beatty (40) is part of a small group of people who have already raised more than £42,000 during the past two years.

And as he prepared for their latest adventure, he said they were well on track to completing their five-year goal.

Mr Beatty, of Rivermill, was inspired to begin his charity quest following a visit to Uganda to find out how the civil war there had impacted upon the lives of children.

He created a video of his experiences to raise awareness of their plight and hopes the money he raises will rehabilitate traumatised youngsters and encourage them to return to education.

His fundraising mission – which has already seen him complete the gruelling Three Peaks Challenge and conquer the treacherous climb to the top of Mount Kilimanjaro – was further spurred on by the death of his niece from leukemia, leading him to add a number of cancer charities to his list.

By HANNAH FRAY
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mike, pictured with his climbing partner David Smith at the summit of Mount Kilimanjaro, said the conditions were unlike anything he had ever experienced.

“The last 36 hours of the climb were torturous,” he said. “We battled through eight hours of blizzard and only had three hours of sleep. And that’s not to mention the altitude sickness.”

“It may have been extremely difficult but we had such a strong purpose behind these challenges that there was no stopping us. We could have done anything.”

Mike is now busy planning his next challenge, a non-stop 62-mile walk from London to Brighton which he hopes to complete later this year or in the early part of 2013.

He added: “I’m also planning to return to Uganda in the near future so see how the money I’ve been raised is being used to improve children’s lives.”

To find out more about Mike’s chosen charities and to follow his progress, log on to www.nothingandeverything.co.uk.

Stadium's offer of a free ride in greyhound limo

MEMBERS of charitable groups in Harlow can live life in the fast lane with a free limousine ride around the town.

Harlow Greyhound Stadium, in Roydon Road, is offering deserving people in the community the chance to experience a ride in their special racing limousine.

The dog track will have the luxury vehicle – which sports a 24ft model of a greyhound on its roof – from June 13-16 and is inviting anyone interested in taking it for a spin to get in touch.

“We thought it would be a nice way of giving dedicated members of our community a bit of a treat,” said manager Mick Davies.

To find out more, call Mick on (01279) 426804.

Meanwhile, the stadium is entering the Olympic spirit by bringing a new element to its programme of events – human racing.

“Throughout July and August we want people to take the place of greyhounds on the track as a way of fundraising for local groups and to have a bit of fun,” said Mick.

Winning numbers

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, June 1 is ticket holder 409411, who lives in Ongar.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 575046 who lives in Harlow.

Search dog charity uses Lottery grant for specialist training

FOUR-legged members of a Harlow-based charity are keeping their noses firmly to the ground after the group received a National Lottery grant to fund specialist training.

Voluntary organisation Search Dogs Essex, which trains and provides dogs to help find missing vulnerable people, were awarded the grant from the Big Lottery Fund to finance specialist mantrailing and scent discrimination training.

The group, who have now been made official members of the International Bloodhound Training Institution that run the programme, are currently halfway through the workshop series. They hope to have eight dogs ready by the end of the year to begin working alongside the emergency services.

Dog handler Karin Jung, who hopes to become the first qualified instructor in the skill area in the UK, said: “Depending on the environment and weather conditions, fully operational mantrailing dogs will be able to follow the trail of a person for a much longer period of time.”

“They are trained to take the scent of the missing person from property that has been handled by that person such as clothing or a phone. From that scent they will know which areas the person has been in, doors they have entered and whether they have been picked up by a car or got on a bus or train.

“When fully trained these dogs will help searches for vulnerable people be solved quicker and hopefully aid more positive outcomes.”

Search Dog Essex is always looking to recruit volunteers for roles ranging from dog training to search support. For more information about the group, visit www.searchdogsex.org.uk.

Diamond Jubi-gee

EVEN torrential rain could not dampen the party spirit in Harlow as Diamond Jubilee fever turned the town red, white and blue.

Thousands braved the wet weather to continue with the many street parties, fetes and concerts held over the extended holiday weekend to celebrate the Queen's 60th year on the throne.

Adorned in Union Jack accessories, patriotic youngsters were the first to kick off festivities as they enjoyed royal-themed parties at their schools and nurseries in the last few days before breaking up for half-term.

Local charities, community and neighbourhood groups – including the Church Langley Residents' Association, the Royal British Legion, 1st Kingsmoor Scout Group, Great Parndon Brownies and the Annabelle Rose Foundation – attracted hundreds to their own jubilee events as they raised money for good causes in the town.

Not even those requiring hospital treatment missed out on the fun as Princess Alexandra Hospital rolled out the bunting and laid on a host of activities for staff and patients.

More than 1,000 people were at Monday's Party In The Park during which Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop lit a jubilee beacon.

Organised by local faith group Heart 4 Harlow in partnership with Harlow Council and Great Parndon Community Association, the event kept the crowds entertained with numerous stalls and fete rides, a country fair at Pets' Corner and four hours of live music.

Council leader Mark Wilkinson said the celebrations showcased the town's fantastic community spirit. "Harlow is known for its community spirit and occasions like this really show that this spirit is still alive in the town," he said.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon added: "Harlow was such a very proud place to be over the jubilee weekend with countless community groups and residents holding celebrations across the town.

"All the parties were amazing, great fun and showed just how much Harlow loves our Queen. It was a very special weekend and one that few people will ever forget."

Essex Police reported a quiet weekend with no significant incidents across the town during the four-day celebration.

"Essex as a whole enjoyed the jubilee bank holiday weekend with very few significant incidents of crime and disorder reported," a spokesperson said. "Everyone appeared to enjoy themselves in a safe environment."

Man smoked drug to ease intense pain

A MAN caught growing cannabis at a house in Harlow told a court he used it to alleviate the pain from a chronic digestive disorder.

David Kenway was arrested after a police officer caught the strong smell of the drug as he walked past the property in Spencers Croft.

Kenway (26) pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to possessing herbal cannabis and producing 16 plants. He was given a 12-month community order and ordered to attend 30 days of intensive probation.

Trevor Archer, prosecuting, told the court that after smelling the drug the officer later returned to the house and Kenway opened the door.

"He was asked where the cannabis was and showed the officer a bag of cannabis resin, some scales and some clear plastic bags downstairs," said Mr Archer. "When asked if there was anything else, Kenway said 'Follow me but be quiet, my children are upstairs'."

"Inside a bedroom was a tent and when it was opened the officer saw 16 plants as well as fan lights and a large extractor fan. It would have produced 182 deals and its probable yield would have been worth between £3,640 and £5,460."

Mr Archer added: "Kenway said a friend had given him the idea a few months before and provided the equipment and seeds to keep costs down because he spent a lot on cannabis."

Christopher Bertham, representing Kenway, said in mitigation that at the age of 21 his client had been diagnosed with Crohn's disease, a digestive disorder which caused him intense abdominal pain.

As a result of the pain he had started smoking cannabis and had developed a £20-£60 a day habit. He then started borrowing money and ran up an £800 debt.

The court was told he had now stopped smoking the drug and was taking prescribed medication. He is also facing surgery to treat his condition.

Mr Bertham provided a number of letters clarifying the medical problems suffered by Kenway, adding: "The children didn't have access to that room and he was horrified of the effects on those around him. It had a sobering effect."

Passing sentence, Thursday, recorder Christopher Makin told him: "It's plain that you decided to start up production in a property where there were young children, although there were steps taken to stop them getting into the room."

"But I take into account what's been said. If you had not pleaded guilty you would have received four months jail suspended for two years."

The judge agreed to a request for forfeiture of the equipment and cannabis plants but did not order Kenway to pay any costs.

Pre-school class on the shortlist for award

A HARLOW toddler and baby class celebrating its first anniversary has been shortlisted for an award.

Pyjama Drama has made the final for the best pre-school activity class in Essex in a competition run by UK parenting website Netmums.com. The winner will be announced on June 21.

The class, run by Eve-Marie Northcote Darby at Paringdon Sports Club, encourages children as young as six months to learn skills through drama, movement and music-based activities.

Eve-Marie said: "Parents tell me our class is the highlight of their child's week so it's so exciting to be recognised in this way."

"I'd love for us to win the award and show we really are special."

attempted abduction but they are now describing it as an accosting.

It is the latest incident in which children have been approached by strangers in the town this year. In April police warned parents to keep a close eye on their children after receiving three separate reports of youngsters being approached by two men driving a white Ford Transit-style van in Kiln Lane, The Stow and Broomfield.

However, police are not linking Friday's accosting to the previous incidents.

Detective Sergeant Steve Jones

said the girl involved in the latest incident had been left frightened but unharmed by her ordeal.

"She has been brave and spoken to us, providing a good description of the man who accosted her," he said. "We would urge people who saw the incident or a car matching the description we have given to contact us."

The suspect is described as white, in his late 20s or early 30s and of average build with muscular arms. At the time he was wearing a blue T-shirt, black jogging bottoms and black trainers.

The car is described as a small four-door saloon with blacked-out front and rear side windows.

DS Jones added: "Given the distinctive description of the man, we are confident somebody can give us a name so, again, we urge them to contact us so that we can establish what happened on Friday afternoon."

Anyone with information should contact detectives at Harlow police station on the non-emergency number 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

A-list stars treat us as celebrities

By VICKY LANE

INTERVIEWING Hugh Grant, performing to an audience of millions of television viewers and appearing on the big screens for an LA Dodgers baseball tournament – just an average week for Harlow's pint-sized pop princesses.

Nine-year-old Sophia Grace Brownlee and her five-year-old cousin Rosie McClelland's meteoric rise to fame since appearing on a smash hit YouTube video last year is showing no signs of abating as they continue to feature regularly on Ellen DeGeneres' primetime chatshow in the US.

Having been given their own dedicated slot – Tea Time with Sophia Grace and Rosie – the girls, both from Old Harlow, have served up some English humour to the likes of country star Taylor Swift and British favourite Hugh Grant. They even took a trip back to their Essex roots when they met controversial comedian Russell Brand.

According to Sophia's father Dominic, Sophia now gets asked for her autograph from big celebrity names and has received rave reviews for her latest singing performances, which included her own take on new Nicki Minaj song Starships.

"The Starships song the girls did got over three and a half million views on YouTube," Dominic told the Star. "The girls went on to perform with well known dancer Twitch and went back on the Ellen show to meet Nicki Minaj again. They've also been sent to Disneyland and are due to meet Katy Perry, Justin Bieber and more celebs this week. It is quite unbelievable!"

Rosie's mother, Danielle Brownlee, said the last few months had been a "magical experience" for all the family.

"Rosie is doing very well and has adapted so well to all that she is doing out here with Sophia," she said. "This is our fourth trip over here in seven months so the girls are getting used to it and having so much fun. Rosie is only five and was just four when I recorded the original clip on my phone so she has done really well to cope with all the live TV!"

BRAND NAME: Sophia Grace and Rosie share the sofa with British comedian Russell Brand on the American chat show hosted by Ellen DeGeneres

Despite their busy schedules, Danielle said the girls were keeping on top of all their school work.

"They have a private tutor so school work is one of our main priorities at all times," she explained. "The girls are above average in all their subjects so we are very proud of them on all levels."

She added: "This journey has been the most magical experience and doing it with family makes it all the more special."

Getting down to business

WITH less than a week to go until the Star-sponsored Harlow Business Exhibition, there's still time to register your interest in the region's premier business networking event.

Taking place from 10am- 4pm on Tuesday (June 12) at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych, it will feature 100 exhibitors, a packed programme of talks and entertainment headlined by internationally-acclaimed comedy act Drags Aloud.

The show will also be raising money for local charity Mike's Den Harlow Phab, with a raffle and prize draws running through the day.

Although all the stands are now reserved, it's still not too late to book your attendance at the event or sign up for one of the many informative business seminars.

HBE co-founder Ian Hudson said: "We believe it is the biggest business event in the east of England and we would like to thank all of our sponsors who have made it possible."

More than 750 visitors are expected to attend Tuesday's show.

To make sure you are one of them, call (01279) 408669, log on to www.harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk or email sales@harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk.

Little money, but we knew how to have a good time

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOU didn't have to have much money to hold a right royal celebration in Harlow back in the 1950s.

At least not according to Phyl Burrup, who organised this Glebelands neighbourhood bash for the the Queen's coronation back in 1953.

Residents dressed themselves up in their best red, white and blue outfits to attend the party at Glebelands Common.

"When I was growing up in London my mum and her friends were always putting on street parties," explained Phyl (88).

"So in the weeks ahead of the coronation I suggested we put on our own do and we received a good response. Every week we would go around the houses collecting a small sum of money which was put towards catering costs and commemoration mugs for all who attended."

Pictured standing in the back row next to her husband Johnnie and holding daughter Maralyn, Phyl said she remembers it being a lovely day.

"We didn't have any music or special entertainment or anything like that as no-one had two pennies to rub together in those days," she said, "but we still knew how to have a good time.

"Everyone chipped in with cakes and sandwiches and it was just a nice, social occasion for us to celebrate being English."

Phyl's niece Lesley, who sent in the picture to Nostalgia, was only three years old at the time.

"I am pictured left of centre with my mother - Margaret Hill - who is squatting down beside me," she said. "I was too young at the time to remember much from the event but I know Harlow was in its infancy then.

"The main shopping centre was The Stow as The High had not been built by that point. The first pub, the Essex Skipper, was also opened around that time.

"The first cinema was opened on the industrial estate off Edinburgh Way but there was not a bus service to get anyone there. Houses around The Stow were still under construction too.

"A very different look to today's Harlow!"

● Did you attend the Glebelands common coronation party? Or do you have any memories or photographs of Harlow from the 1950s-1980s? Why not share them with our readers by writing to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW or email them to vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Harlow Common CoE School

IT turns out the picture of pupils and staff from Harlow Common CoE School which we featured a few weeks ago was organised for a special reason.

It was taken in June 1950 after it had been decided it would be a good way to commemorate five years since the end of the Second World War.

Former pupil David Horsnell, of Radburn Close, got in touch after spotting himself and many familiar faces in the photograph. "I was about 11 or 12 at the time and I remember we had the picture to commemorate the five-year anniversary," he said.

Though David said he had a lot of fond memories from his time at Harlow Common, he also recalls some of the downsides.

"I remember every Thursday we were taught religious studies by the local vicar, Rev John Oliver White. He was always dressed in his long black robes and we were all frightened to death of him.

"He would quickly throw the chalk at anyone who misbehaved or got an answer wrong.

"The school dinners were also less than desirable. We were still on rations in those days so every meal would have Pom, which was a type of powdered potato which I hated.

"The meals were also all prepared in Epping and delivered to the school for lunch so were lacking in quality by then. I used to just go to my gran's down the road!"

● Were you a pupil at Harlow Common? Send your memories to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Police are hunting a barefooted hitchhiker after a police detective was attacked and his car stolen at the weekend. The officer suffered minor injuries when he was assaulted outside Arlingtons Garage in Potter Street at 2am after stopping his car to investigate a man acting suspiciously.

High-flying TV personality Anna Rice will be visiting Harlow to promote the refurbishment of a new store. Rumbelows, in Broad Walk, has invited the popular star of Treasure Hunt and Wish You Were Here to open the new shop and raise money for the hospital scanner appeal by signing autographs.

The curtain goes down on the Odeon Cinema on Sunday when it closes to convert into a multi-screen complex. The work, which is scheduled to take 10 weeks, will divide the old 1,200-seat capacity auditorium into three separate screens of varying sizes.

Tory election candidate Jerry Hayes unwittingly found himself holding up the traffic in First Avenue after his electioneering battle wagon was involved in a crash. Driven by Mr Hayes' American researcher Tom Moore, the Land Rover collided with another vehicle at the junction by Momples Road. Fortunately no-one was hurt in the accident.

Restaurants and shops join in the Midnight magic SHOPS and restaurants at the Water Gardens in Harlow are planning to show their support for the St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk by staying open late and offering discounts on the night for walkers and their supporters.

Both Nandos and Esquires will be giving 10 per cent discounts while The Water Gardens will be supplying the drink and snack for the walkers in their goody bags.

Staff from Virgin Active, who will put the walkers through their paces with a pre-walk warm-up, were getting into the spirit this week by dressing up in pink outfits.

Various retailers will be open late and offering discounts to support the walkers who will set off from the Water Gardens car park at 10.30pm on Saturday, June 16.

The Star-backed walk follows a 10km route around Harlow.

Centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "It really is an excellent event which is incredibly well supported. We look forward to welcoming all of the participants to the Water Gardens and aiding them as best we can in their worthy cause."

Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser at St Clare Hospice, said: "It was lots of fun going down to the Water Gardens and seeing the retailers get into the spirit of the walk by dressing up in pink."

"That's what the Midnight Walk is all about, donning some pink and having fun with friends whilst raising funds for the hospice."

"There are some great benefits being supplied by the Water Gardens so you can have a nice meal at Nandos or a coffee for energy before the walk at a discount. So before it's too late, register for this great night out."

Registration closes tomorrow (Friday) but there is still time to register to be part of this year's walk. Entry costs £15 and online entry is available at www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight.

Walkers can also register on the night but this will cost £20.

Queen's face of photos

MANY of you will have celebrated the Queen's diamond jubilee at street parties or fetes over the bank holiday weekend.

But more than 5,000 Britons chose to commemorate the occasion in a very different way – by helping to create a stunning mosaic of the Queen.

Around the country people from all backgrounds submitted family portraits, photos of their ancestors, snaps of important occasions in their lives and pictures of times that made them laugh.

Artist Helen Marshall was joined by computer art expert Polly Tiles to create the special photo mosaic, which also contains a current picture of the Queen and a photograph taken at the beginning of her reign nearly 60 years ago.

The enormous work of art was commissioned by the BBC. A spokeswoman said: "The project has taken on a life of its own with everyone thinking long and hard about the image they want to represent them and their family in our Jubilee artwork."

"Stand up close to our artwork and you will see a mass of touching, funny or inspirational photos – step back 20 paces and it transforms to become a double portrait of the Queen."

National tour pair join Phoenix cast of Oliver!

By CHRIS MOSS

A GROUP of talented Harlow youngsters can now consider themselves at home among the cast of a hotly-anticipated new adaptation of smash hit musical Oliver!

More than 100 hopefuls attended all-day auditions for Harlow-based drama group Phoenix Theatre School's forthcoming production at the Rhodes Arts Centre in Bishop's Stortford, with 22 making it through to the final cut.

And in a coup for the producers, the key parts of Oliver and the Artful Dodger have been filled by two youngsters who are currently appearing in Cameron Mackintosh's national tour of the West End show.

William Edden (14) will reprise his role as Dodger while Jake Poolman (10), currently starring as Nipper on the national tour, will take the title role in the Rhodes show which opens in the first week of September.

Rehearsals start in mid-June and director / producer Phil Dale – a former manager of Harlow Playhouse – is confident the cast can deliver a show to appeal to all ages.

"I was delighted not just with the turnout at auditions but also the standard of the young performers," he told the Star.

"To have two members of the current national tour in your production is a fantastic situation and will prove to be a real treat for the audience who can rest assured that they will be paying money to see young actors of the very highest standard."

The production opens on September 26 and runs for seven performances until September 30. Tickets can be purchased by calling (01279) 651746 or at www.rhodesbishopsstortford.org.uk.

Theatre's brochure wins showguide prize at national awards ceremony

HARLOW Playhouse has scooped a prestigious industry award for the quality of its bi-annual brochure.

The council-run venue picked up the 'Best Showguide of the Year' prize at the Encore Theatre Awards held at the Fairfield Halls in Croydon, where celebrities, managers and producers meet on an annual basis to celebrate the best in variety and theatre.

Jean Clark, Harlow Council's deputy leader and portfolio holder for community & inclusion, said: "I'm delighted that the work of staff on improving the brochure has been rewarded with votes from producers in the theatre industry.

"This award created a real buzz about the Playhouse at the ceremony. It's good to see the venue growing its national profile."

The award was presented to theatre manager Scott Ramsay, who is pictured (right) at the event with Coronation Street actor Philip Lowrie.

The next brochure covering the period from September 2012 to March 2013 will be distributed this month.

Something's stirring in house of horrors

THE PACT certificate 15, 1h28m

ALL families have their secrets and the dysfunctional clan at the centre of Nicholas McCarthy's ghost story have an entire closet full of skeletons waiting to rattle their gnarled bones.

The film opens with Nicole (Agnes Bruckner) wandering around her deceased mother's creepy house in Los Angeles, a laptop computer in hand as she makes a video call to her daughter and younger sister Annie (Caity Lotz), who refuses to step inside the property. The little girl signals the start of the nastiness to come, asking sweetly: "Mummy, who's that behind you?" Nicole spins around, alarmed. A nervous peek inside the closet that adjoins the lounge is the last we see of her.

Soon after, biker chick Annie enters the fray, rightly concerned about the lack of contact with her sister. Strange noises, flickering lights and an unexplained break-in lead to the realisation that something is terribly wrong in the house.

Annie asks local police detective Creek (Casper Van Dien) to investigate. Through his lackadaisical methods, he reveals a secret room and sparks Annie's horrific memories of her childhood that have kept her far from the city.

The Pact is expanded from the writer-director's 11-minute short film of the same name but sadly he runs out of ideas and dramatic momentum well before the bells have chimed on the first hour.

It relies on some stratospheric suspensions of disbelief. Annie's determination to stay inside a home that has clearly been the source of so much pain is hard to swallow when an unseen force starts smashing family photographs and dropping items in the kitchen.

But when that same force starts flinging the stricken heroine around rooms like a rag doll, any sane individual would leap on to that motorcycle, head for the hills and never return.

Alas, McCarthy's flimsy script has no room for common sense and so Annie prevails in order to set up an unlikely resolution involving an old relative (Mark Steger) from the poisonous family tree.

The jolts are sporadically effective but we're savvy enough to second guess where McCarthy will take us next and the nasty surprises that could be lurking around the next poorly lit corridor.

Production design is dark and gloomy, relying on what we can't see to whir our imaginations into overdrive and conjure up scares that are disappointingly lacking in the script.

Scott sets off on another space odyssey

PROMETHEUS certificate 15, 2h03m

AFTER the success of the Alien franchise, the weight of expectation resting on Ridley Scott's Prometheus would crush even the eponymous titan from Greek mythology, whose quest to bridge the divide between the mortals and gods provides the film with its pseudo-philosophical framework.

There are some intriguing ideas embedded within Jon Spaihts and Damon Lindelof's script, but inevitably Scott's film reduces to a big budget game of cat and mouse between wily xenomorphs and human interlopers.

And as in earlier films, an android presides over the ill-fated mission and discovers that automatons are not immune from the rapacious beasts.

In 2089 astrophysicist Dr Elizabeth Shaw (Noomi Rapace) and her partner Charlie Holloway (Logan Marshall-Green) unearth an ancient cave painting that confirms the existence of an extraterrestrial race known as the Engineers.

Wealthy industrialist Peter Weyland (Guy Pearce) agrees to finance a voyage to the alien home planet. A spaceship called Prometheus captained by Janek (Idris Elba) provides the transport for Weyland company executive Meredith Vickers (Charlize Theron) and the crew, including geologist Fifield (Sean Harris) and medic Ford (Kate Dickie).

Operations android David (Michael Fassbender) casts a dispassionate eye over proceedings but as the explorers touch down on the Engineers' home world, they are woefully unprepared for what awaits them.

If the original Alien was a masterclass in nervous silences and sustained, nail-biting tension, Prometheus opts for composer Marc Streitenfeld's overwrought orchestration and splatter par excellence courtesy of the visual effects department, who hark back to HR Giger's iconic original designs.

But Prometheus pales next to Alien. Shocks are predictable and only one sequence – an impromptu medical procedure carried out by a patient on their own body – sears into the memory.

Rapace anchors the film with an emotionally wrought performance that everyone else seems unable or unwilling to match.

Fassbender's embodiment of mechanised man doesn't always ring true – in one scene, he smiles with childlike wonder as the mysteries of the universe unfold around him, which is a remarkably human response.

The 3D version is a truly immersive experience during the early scenes, when the screen is festooned with overlaid holograms and projected computer readouts. The eye-popping format becomes almost unnoticeable by the end, however, when a gratuitous coda leaves the airlock well and truly open for a sequel.

MEN IN BLACK 3 Boglode assassin Boris The Animal (Jemaine Clement) engineers his escape from the Lunar Max high security prison with help from his sexy girlfriend (Nicole Scherzinger). The snarling supervillain plans to travel back in time and kill the man who put him behind bars and shot off his left arm – Agent K (Tommy Lee Jones). The ripple effect causes Agent K to disappear from the future. Having ascertained the past has been altered, Agent J (Will Smith) travels back to 1969 where he meets the young Agent K (Josh Brolin). With assistance from the young Agent O (Alice Eve) and an otherworldly soothsayer called Griffin (Michael Stuhlbarg), J races against the clock to save his best friend from annihilation.

SNOW WHITE & THE HUNTSMAN When Ravenna (Charlize Theron) ascends to the throne she incarcerates her stepdaughter Snow White (Kristen Stewart) in the north tower and plans to attain eternal youth by ripping out the girl's beating heart. The plucky heroine escapes the dungeon and the clutches of Ravenna's slimy brother Finn (Sam Spruell), and heads into the aptly named Dark Forest. Ravenna's magic holds no sway in this enclave so she hires a Huntsman (Chris Hemsworth) to track down Snow White and deliver the girl to her doom. However, he too falls under the escapee's spell and agrees to help Snow White overthrow Ravenna with the assistance of childhood friend William (Sam Claflin) and eight pint-sized former miners.

THE DICTATOR Sacha Baron Cohen plays Admiral General Aladeen, tyrannical ruler of the African state of Wadiya. During a visit to America to address the United Nations about his nuclear arsenal, Aladeen is usurped by his duplicitous brother Tamir (Sir Ben Kingsley) and cast adrift on the streets. Zoey (Anna Faris), the tomboyish manager of a vegan feminist non-profit co-operative, takes pity on Aladeen who she accepts as an immigrant called Allison Burgers, but sparks of romance are continually extinguished by Aladeen's bigotry. Eventually, Zoey discovers that Aladeen is wanted for war crimes and is horrified by the truth.

AVENGERS ASSEMBLE When a dangerous new enemy threatens the safety of mankind, Nick Fury (Samuel L Jackson) – director of the international peacekeeping agency known as S.H.I.E.L.D – scours the globe in search of the ultimate team of superheroes. Aided by fellow agent Maria Hill (Cobie Smulders), Fury recruits Iron Man (Robert Downey Jr), The Incredible Hulk (Mark Ruffalo), Thor (Chris Hemsworth), Captain America (Chris Evans), Hawkeye (Jeremy Renner) and Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson) to save the day.

TOP CAT: THE MOVIE Top Cat (voiced by Jason Harris) and his buddies Benny (Chris Edgerly), Choo Choo (Harris), Fancy Fancy (Matthew Piazzi), Spook (Ben Diskin) and Brain (Harris) enjoy the run of Manhattan's alleys, despite the best efforts of Officer Dibble (Bill Lobley) to thwart their scams. Their latest ruse involves getting close to the visiting Maharaja of Pichachu, who is well known for giving away rubies as tips.

Removal Planning

Despite the effort that goes into preparing a property for sale, many people overlook the impact of good removal planning, and often leave the packing to the last moment. Here are a few suggestions that we hope will help you avoid some of the anxieties many people experience during this exciting but sometimes stressful time:

Don't wait until a buyer is found before getting a removal quote. In the same way that you should choose your estate agent with care, talk to several removal firms before deciding, without having to use the only one available on your chosen day. (We can put you in touch with a reputable firm that offers reasonable rates to our clients)

Friday is the most popular day to move house. However, removal companies tend to get booked up, and if there were to be a hiccup, would they work on the Saturday? Even if they would, the van might have been booked out to someone else and not be available to complete your move easily. So aim to move mid-week if at all possible.

Completion dates are often agreed before exchange. Once you have a tentative date in mind ask the removal company to pencil in the date, subject to confirmation.

You can save a lot of hassle by getting the removers to pack for you. But watch the quality of packing. Do they just put a pile of plates into a box, or do they wrap each one individually? Will they pack clothes in their existing chests/wardrobes etc., thereby saving space, or would they pack into boxes first, possibly at unnecessary cost?

To be on the safe side, choose a removal company that is a member of BAR the British Association of Removers. Happy moving!

MORTGAGE MARKET UPDATE

With further worries about the viability of Greece to remain in the eurozone and the exposure of many banks debts owed by Greece, availability of funding is once again under pressure. We have seen several lenders withdraw products and replace them with new products at higher interest rates.

This is especially the case at the 90% loan to value level, ie the percentage you want to borrow against the house value, rates are now around 6%.

On Tuesday we heard from the IMF regarding the lack of growth in our economy, one of their recommendations being the Bank of England lowers the Base Rate further.

If you have a tracker mortgage this would mean a reduction in your mortgage payments each month.

More important than ever is the need to get professional independent advice

A new dawn for Peugeot's supermini

By Matt Joy

THERE'S no greater pressure than being a success. Just ask Peugeot, who face the unenviable task of creating a supermini that lives up to the legacy of the 205.

That car is still fondly remembered despite not being as perfect as the fog of nostalgia leads us to be (believe), but the 206 that followed it did even better: an incredible 7.7 million were sold worldwide.

The outgoing 207 was a good car but couldn't match either the charm or sales success of its predecessors. So have a little sympathy for the just-launched 208.

But not much. The first glance will tell you that the 208 is a car with a purpose and a confidence about its looks. Like any modern car you need the right colour and a decent set of alloys on it to get the best effect, but it is a very handsome thing.

There are token nods to the 205 in the chrome detail around the rear window but it's no slavish recreation. Instead the 208 is thoroughly modern.

It's a little bit bigger, too – a modest 7cm in length which translates to a useful increase in rear seat room, but more crucial is the fact that it is as much as 110kg lighter than the 207. That's good news all round, not least because you get more from whatever's under the bonnet but efficiency goes up, too – an average saving of 34g/km compared to the old models is claimed.

As well as some carried-over engines there are some new offerings, most interestingly a three-cylinder petrol. Having one fewer cylinder is partially responsible for a 25kg weight saving but friction is also reduced by almost a third and when the stop/start system is added later in the year it will deliver an impressive 95g/km.

The homework has clearly been done and when you step inside, the sense of modernity continues. Peugeot says it has given the 208 a head-up display cockpit for better ergonomics, but it would be more accurate to say it has positioned the instruments much higher up on the dash than providing a true digital display in the windscreen.

The idea is that you view the dials over the top of the much-smaller steering wheel rather than through it. The theory is good but whether you like it or not will depend on the individual; having the wheel so low set is a matter of preference.

But the driving position is very good regardless, the view out is good (save for the relatively thick rear pillars) and that small steering wheel really gets you in the mood.

You might think a smaller wheel would hamper you in town but the power steering means it is never an issue and you can guide the 208 in or out of town without having to shuffle your hands around very often, a real boon for an everyday and everywhere car like this.

The 1.6-litre VTi engine is unchanged from the 207 but here it feels more lively, revs pretty keenly and while not delivering hot-hatch pace, is certainly quick enough for most people. On the left-hand drive test cars fifth gear seemed a long way over, but in the UK that will work just fine and the shift itself is accurate and consistent.

But what of the legendary 205 and its engaging manner on a twisty road? Well the first thing to remember is that you'll never recreate that feeling in a car that weighs a third as much, wider tyres and power steering. But when you start to push on the 208 is really up for playing, with good feel and feedback through the wheel.

The attention to weight-saving delivers a feeling of the 208 being light on its toes, which encourages you to revel in the balance and faithfulness of the chassis. It does all this while providing a decent ride, the overall balance between comfort and handling being nicely judged and just what you would want from a small car.

So has Peugeot pulled it off, then? Outshone the 205? No. Created arguably the best supermini in the class? Quite possibly.

There are some new engines still to try and UK roads provide the toughest test of all, but Peugeot has really pulled out the stops and the result is that the 208 is a cracking little car.

The opposition should start to worry.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

BOA MANAGER EXCITED AS START OF 2012 OLYMPICS DRAWS NEAR

WITH the London 2012 Olympic Games a little more than two months away, Star sports reporter DAVID RIMMER took the opportunity to meet up with former Olympian Bernie Cotton.

Cotton, 63, played for the Great Britain men's hockey team which came sixth in the Munich Olympic Games in 1972.

Cotton was later assistant manager of the GB men's team which won the gold medal at Seoul, South Korea in 1988.

Subsequently Cotton has had various roles with the BOA (British Olympic Association).

Cotton, who identified the Great Britain training camp in Macau before the Beijing Games in 2008, is thrilled at the prospect of the Games coming to London.

WE live in an age of hyperbole, but the attention around the London 2012 Olympic Games will be justified.

Ever since Sebastian Coe and his team's bid proved successful in 2005, a sense of anticipation has been building in this country.

It is the third time the capital has staged the Olympics after it was held in London in 1908 and 1948.

Bishop's Stortford-based Bernie Cotton was only just a month old at the time of the 1948 Games which like these ones are being held in an age of economic austerity.

Pride is evident in Cotton who is a Sport Engagement Manager with the British Olympic Association (BOA).

He said: "The stadium is tremendous and the apartment blocks [in the Olympic athletes' village] are built. It's almost ready.

"It will be a sporting spectacular, technically brilliant in excellent facilities without any white elephants post Games."

He added: "The security is very tight. Security has been tightened by governments ever since the Munich Games [in 1972]."

Cotton competed in the hockey for Great Britain in Germany in 1972 and in this age of terror, everybody will be praying that there will be no repeats of the terrorism which marked the Munich Games.

Five Palestinian terrorists entered the Olympic Village in Munich, and were joined by three others who had gained access to the village.

In the 24 hours that followed, a German policeman and 11 Israeli athletes were killed along with five Palestinians.

Hopefully the media coverage will be solely on sport.

Cotton said: "It's massive. The BBC is going to be broadcasting on every

(PA)

GB pride as London calls the tune minute of every sport.

"It's a feast of sport every day. It might be on terrestrial or the red button. It will be on many channels over a fortnight."

In his role at the BOA, Cotton has five sports for which he has responsibility.

They are hockey, basketball, volleyball, handball and table tennis.

The 63 year-old has no coaching responsibilities but has to ensure everything runs smoothly.

Nothing must be left to chance and Cotton will be on site during the Games to ensure they are a huge success.

He said: "We do have some very tall athletes. Beds will be extended for them. Sleep is very important for an athlete's success.

"In our day we had people's feet dangling over the bed."

Media liaison is also another area which has been worked on.

"We have gone through the scenarios as to what should be done if somebody or someone loses."

Cotton cares and that is important but ultimately people want to know beforehand what our chances are.

Other than hockey, the administrator is not linked with sports where Great Britain have a realistic chance of medalling.

Cotton feels we will be there or thereabouts in both the men's and women's hockey.

Both these teams took part in test events at the Olympic venue last week. The women won their event.

Cotton said: "If the men are going to win [gold] they have to beat Australia and they did beat Australia in the first game in the Commonwealth Games in 2010.

"In Beijing we were ranked 8th before and we came fifth. We are ranked fourth now."

Cotton is impressed by the Great Britain women's team which contains Harlow-born player Chloe Rogers.

He said: "They will be there or thereabouts. There has been a consistent improvement particularly since they went training full-time.

"They train three days a week together and then do their gym work and also play for their clubs. Physically they are really good athletes."

He added: "They came runners-up in the Champions Trophy [losing 1-0 to Argentina in the final] earlier this year.

"They were also third in the Europa Nations Cup last year."

Cotton is a self-deprecating character and feels hockey has changed a lot since his time.

"It's a very quick game and the laws have changed since I was involved."

Harlow could have as many as five athletes competing at the Games.

Along with Rogers, marksman James Huckle has already been named in the GB squad.

Andrew Osagie, the 800m runner, is hotly tipped to make the team as he claimed a bronze medal at the World Indoor Athletics Championships in Turkey earlier this year.

Judo players Peter Cousins and Faith Pitman are also battling for a place at the London showpiece.

Cotton said the other sports he has been involved with have to prove their credibility before they are given the green light.

He said: "These sports have had to justify to the BOA that they will offer a credible performance. They have proved that to the BOA.

"Basketball has had good financial backing; £10m over four years.

"Our best players play in a good club league abroad [in the NBA in the United States]."

He added: "Our best ones play in the NBA. In the London test event last year they came fourth out of six teams."

Cotton explained that men have more funding than women and have more chance of reaching the finals.

Table tennis is also likely to be an also ran.

He said: "The last time anybody qualified was Matthew Syed in 2000. Paul Drinkall is our top player and he is rated 196th in the world.

"Table tennis has a good player for the future in Liam Pritchard. He was only 15 or 16 at the Commonwealth Games and he has the best chance of qualifying for the next Olympics [Brazil 2016].

Cotton expects China to dominate in table tennis once again.

"They are very strong. It's the national sport – they have won every event. You have players of Chinese extraction in the European teams," he said.

Handball is a small sport in this country and GB competitors are unlikely to be on the podium.

Looking at the bigger picture, Cotton declined to predict whether Great Britain can emulate or improve on the fourth spot they claimed in the medals table in Beijing.

He said: "If we get more medals from more sports we would have done very well, but it will be a challenge.

"In the cycling we will do well to get seven golds again. Two events have gone from cycling."

The Games are big but how will GB athletes perform?

Cotton simply remains confident that it will be a Games that will live long in the memory.

Contest joy for amputee golfer

MICHAEL Foulds was part of the Limbless Veterans charity team which won a tournament after beating able-bodied golfers.

The retired serviceman from Harlow played in the fourball betterball game at the prestigious Berkshire Golf Club in Ascot.

Foulds' team defeated Lloyds Golf Club 4-2 to secure the silverware.

Foulds (60), from Potters Street, who was a lance corporal in the Army, lost his lower limbs in a train accident. He served in the Royal Engineers' regiment in West Germany.

It was the first time that the British Limbless Ex-servicemen Men's Association (BLESMA) had participated in a golf tournament against an able-bodied team from Lloyds GC.

The event was hosted by Lloyds Golf Club president Wim Bushell and was attended by John Uzielli, former captain of the Royal & Ancient golf society and Michael Hardingham, chairman of the Lloyds Patriotic Fund.

The tournament is part of a year-long partnership between the Lloyd's Patriotic Fund and BLESMA.

AWARD WINNERS: Harlow Hawks players line up with their cups and trophies (s)

Huge praise for Hawks' juniors

THE success of the Harlow Hawks Basketball Club's junior teams was highlighted at the annual presentation evening.

The club hosted the Junior Central Venue League and the Hawks' U-11 Whites and U-14 Blacks teams were both undefeated as they won their respective divisions.

The U-17 team were runners-up in their division.

Their buoyant form contrasted with less successful 2011-12 campaigns for the senior teams.

Hawks' first team won the Herts County Plate, but finished bottom in the Herts County League.

The second senior team fared better. They came fourth and lost a close Herts League Cup play-off semi-final to eventual double winners Aylesbury Dux.

Hawks' annual presentation evening at the Princess Alexandra Hospital Social Club in Hamstel Road rewarded the club's most successful junior and senior players.

Bradley Walker received the Most Improved Player (MIP) and Players' Player awards for the U-11 White team.

For the U-11 Red team, George Sykes won the Parents' Player prize and shared the Players' Player award with Amelia Shaves.

Two prizes (Parents' Player and MIP) were also gained by James Surtees in the U-14 Red team.

In the senior section, Lee Jones won both the Players' Player and MIP awards for the first team.

The event was attended by around 160 people.

In addition to a new junior team for next season's National League, the club will be looking to make some changes to the senior set-up.

This will allow more of the older juniors from the U-17 age group to train or play with the senior second team.

Hawks player-coach Shab

Niaz explained: "It will be only for those who feel they are ready for that level or have the potential to benefit from being in that set-up."

"It's creating a development squad for the future of the senior set-up."

School seals English FA last four spot

WILLIAM Martin Church of England School's football team reached the last four of a national competition which involved about 35,000 schools.

The Harlow school got to the semi-final of the Tesco English Schools' FA competition.

They joined seven other U-11 sides from across England in the seven-a-side finals at Championship side Watford FC's training ground in Herts Colney, Hertfordshire.

The team from the Tawney Road school were placed in group B where they faced schools from Gosport (in Hampshire), Stoke-on-Trent (in Staffordshire) and North Tyneside in the North East.

William Martin won two matches and lost one to book a spot in the last four.

The Harlow team lost 1-0 to Victoria College (Jersey) in the semi-final. William Martin's deputy headteacher Angela Brister said: "We have worked out that roughly 35,000 schools took part in the competition for the last eight teams to reach this stage."

"This is an incredible achievement for our Harlow children and we are so proud of their success."

The school also thanked coach Tony Wickenden, from Paringdon Road Sports Club, for his expertise.

Success for jujitsu club

SUCCESS was enjoyed by Harlow Jujitsu Club members when they gained six medals at the Wakarishin and Kokoro Kai 6th International Championships in Southend.

The event attracted more than 500 competitors including players from Belgium and Denmark.

Luke Shipwright (23) clinched a gold in the men's 85kg category when he beat club-mate Steve Bates (40) in the final.

There were around 25 contestants in this category.

Shipwright also earned a silver from around 20 competitors in the men's random attacks section.

In this category contestants are marked on their response to a stealth attack from a fellow competitor.

Guy Middleton (49) earned a bronze in the senior weapons kata section, which was judged by a panel.

He had to defend himself from a combat cane.

Two medals were also earned by the club's junior teams in their first competition.

William Meadows (10) and Anthony Vulliamy (11) competed in the U-11 section and both were losing semi-finalists.

They both gained bronze medals for their efforts.

Club instructor Dave Rintoul said: "We were proud of all our contestants, in particular the juniors William Meadows and Anthony Vulliamy as it was their first external competition."

Five other jujitsu players from the club competed at the event, but did not win any medals.

The club trains at the Great Parndon Community Association centre in Harlow.

Judo players' gold fever

THREE gold medals were won by Harlow Judo Club players at two separate competitions.

Freddy White (13) was in fine form, gaining a gold with four ippons (knockout throws) using four different throwing techniques at the Ipswich Green Belt & Below Championships in Suffolk.

Rebecca Howlett (10) won all her fights to gain gold, with a trademark ipponsanagi throw.

Thomas Rees (12) won all of his group fights by ippons, but lost in the semi-finals to gain a bronze.

To add insult to injury, one of the opponents he beat in the group stage, went on to win gold.

Alex Hemming, in only his second senior event, produced some great judo to win gold at the senior event in Dartford, Kent.

Great Britain hope springs Eternal

Osagie targets New York after third in Rome

ANDREW Osagie has his sights set on more success in New York this weekend as he looks to build on an excellent performance in the Eternal City.

Sound tactical running enabled Harlow's great hope for a GB medal at the Olympics to take third place in the Italian capital of Rome at the latest Samsung Diamond League meeting.

Osagie, of Northbrooks, is next in action on Saturday when he competes in the United States in the next round of the Samsung Diamond League.

The Harlow Athletic Club member clocked 1 min, 44.71 seconds in the 800m, another consistent time as he rubbed shoulders with the likes of Jamaican 100m World Record holder Usain Bolt in Italy.

Osagie timed his run to perfection once again to come through near the finish and secure a podium place.

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The race was won by Kenyan Leonard Kosencha in a time of 1:44.42, just fractions of a second faster than 24-year-old Osagie.

In second was Pole Marcin Lewandowski (1:44.64). These were the only three runners to clock below 1:45.

This was another Olympic qualifying time for Osagie, a feat he has achieved several times already this year.

Osagie was the only Brit to compete in the 800m in Italy.

He was faster than three highly-rated Kenyan runners, one of whom was disqualified.

However, World Record holder and world No.1 - the Kenyan David Rudisha - did not compete at this event.

Rudisha clocked his World Record time of 1:41 back in 2010, but also recorded 1:43 in Doha in May, the fastest time this year. Osagie was third in this race.

The meeting in the Italian capital last Thursday was the second event in a week that Osagie had competed alongside Bolt and the cream of the world's athletes.

The Jamaican ran his fastest time this year as he gets into tip-top shape for the start of the Olympics.

Osagie should find out this month whether he will be picked to represent Great Britain at the London Olympics.

However, in the form he is in Osagie will be a shock omission from the team if he is not picked.

Osagie, coached by Craig Winrow, was third in the World Indoor Championships in Turkey earlier this year and is starting to produce the sort of consistent performances that could well bring him a medal in August.

Title favourites Hainault thrash Harlow

SKIPPER Luke Heskett has called on his batsmen to get back on track after his Harlow side were thrashed at table-topping Hainault & Clayhall.

Harlow were bowled out for just 88 in response to Hainault's score of 264-8 on Saturday.

Heskett said: "You can't lose five of your top six for single figures and expect to compete with a side that good."

"We play another high-quality side Upminster [this Saturday] and the batting must get back to the standards of the previous two games."

Hainault's innings was underpinned by skipper and opener Zoheb Sharif who struck 153, which more than cancelled out the early inroads made by Heskett himself.

He dismissed Irfan Shah and Mouhssin Ismail for ducks, leaving the hosts on 6-2.

Andrew McGarry bowled very tightly, but Hainault recovered through the classy pair of Sharif and Atif Zafar.

They took the score to 105 before Zafar was run out for 42.

By this stage, Heskett had introduced young off spinner Jack Davies for his first appearance of the season. He bowled with good flight and built some pressure, which led to Zafar's dismissal.

Davies then took the wicket of danger man Suleman Qadir, caught well by Heskett in the deep and also dismissed Ashfaq Ahmed for 18, leaving the hosts on 171-5.

Heskett added: "Jack's performance was a massive positive. He showed he has the talent and ability to become an important part of our bowling attack."

However, Sharif played freely and ensured Hainault posted a decent score in their 50 overs.

Harlow's main wicket takers were McGarry (2-37), Heskett (2-41) and Davies (2-52).

The visitors started miserably in reply.

Quick bowler Ismail claimed the key wickets of Luke Monger, Usman Jan and Ahmed Khawaja for 4, 0 and 2 respectively.

Spinner Qadir dismissed McGarry and Andre Riddell cheaply, leaving Harlow on 39-5. Rehman Ahmed (24) and Conor Ramsay (17) offered resistance before both were dismissed by Ryan Hurst.

There was no way back for Harlow who were unable to reach three figures.

Heskett added: "We were beaten by a very good side. Their skipper played a model opening batsman's innings and looked top class."

"They had dangerous players all throughout their side. I have no doubts they will win the league and return straight to the premier division."

Unbeaten run ends

THE unbeaten run of Harlow Town was ended as they slumped to a heavy defeat at Pegasus & Corringham on Saturday.

Town were left to regret missed opportunities to dismiss ace home opening batsman Paul Bennett.

He struck a massive 213 not out and his knock included 12 sixes.

The importance of Bennett's stupendous effort in the home side's innings of 318-7 was illustrated by the fact that the next highest score was 46 by the home skipper Daniel Laird.

Ashley Alderson (4-82) was Town's chief wicket taker, while Ronnie Yates (10-1-30-1) was the most economical one.

In reply, Town were never in the hunt with only Ramya Upadhyay (53) and to a lesser degree Shiraz Ali (36) offering any serious resistance.

Harlow were bowled out for 209 and were one run short of claiming another batting bonus point, finishing up with six bonus points.

Ian Turnbull (4-55) was the most successful home bowler.

The result left Town third in the 10-team table.

Conor Fussell took five wickets and Jason Gladwin struck an unbeaten 65 when Harlow Town II (151-2) thrashed Pegasus & Corringham II (150) by eight wickets in the Shepherd Neame League 2nd XI division three.
